

New Jersey Associates of Family Law Arbitration Chooses Core and More Technologies to Revise End-to-End Web Presence

July 14, 2010 – Upon completing a diligent review of competing internet marketing and web development companies in the Monmouth County, NJ area, the New Jersey Associates of Family Law Arbitration (NJAFILA) has selected Core and More Technologies to build and brand their soon to be released online web portal.

NJAFILA is introducing innovative new practices to the New Jersey legal system. Based in Monmouth County NJ, their services will enable individuals throughout the State to save thousands in court costs while drastically reducing a long and arduous judicial process. The association is comprised of leading legal, financial and psychology experts who have come together to pioneer a new way of thinking that was validated by the New Jersey State Supreme Court in December of 2010. With this, they can now pass their cumulative knowledge on to the general public. Not only will they save their clients thousands of dollars and countless hours, they will also help to reduce the docket and free up valuable court resources.

Through Core and More Technologies they will design, brand and release their new website and ultimately establish an information driven social media presence.

“We chose Core and More Technologies above other vendors around the Monmouth County area because their level of creativity and commitment matches our own” said August Landi – Executive Director, NJAFILA. “We know we made the right choice. Core and More Technologies may not have been the least expensive, but they are the best. We need an online firm to represent us as well as we represent our clients. That is what Core and More Technologies brings to the table.”

The list of Core and More Technologies customers continues to grow. Contact us today to discuss our Early Adopter Program – while it remains available. Also, like us on Facebook and follow us on Twitter to be “in the know” on all the exciting announcements that are coming up!
